Thank you for consulting us on this application, consequently we have consulted the detailed information contained on your website.

The information held in the Historic Environment Record that is curated by this Trust shows no recorded features within the application area itself. However, the site lies to the north west of Pop Hill where there is known activity from the Roman period.

In our opinion the proposed works are unlikely to impact on any buried archaeological resource. Therefore we have no objection to the positive determination of the application. The record is not definitive, however, and should archaeological material be disturbed during the course of the work, please contact this section of the Trust for advice.

If you have any questions or require further advice on this matter please do not hesitate to contact us.

Yours faithfully
