Our dry toilets separate at source the urine and solids that we pass from two different outlets. By not mixing the two items together, or adding chemicals or water, we avoid producing foul effluent. Instead we are able to utilise these two most excellent products, producing fertiliser immediately and compost in time.

For those difficult suburban areas, or where security is paramount, there are cabins made from TPR, a synthetic concrete which carries the 'Secured by Design' label.

These can be used as toilet cabins or tool sheds. Available in various colours and sizes they are guaranteed for 30 years.

Our latest secure toilet is the Egloo®, an egg shaped design made from natural hemp and resin, which is moulded into shape. This produces a stylish non-flammable cabin suitable for allotments and gardens.

The larger cabins, (wooden, secure & egloo) can be fitted with full disabled facilities.
