- Notes
1. The positions of services and plant shown on this drawing are indicative only and reflect the level of information obtained from a survey carried out by Tsp consulting in May 2020 and record information received from statutory undertaker asset records. No guarantee is given for the accuracy of this information and it is intended for general guidance only.
 2. Service depths and plan locations may differ to those shown on the survey. The information must not be relied upon for excavation or other works. The onus of locating the services before using mechanical excavator or other plant, rests entirely upon the contractor.
 3. Where utilities are indicated there may be multiple cables present.
 4. Other utilities may be present underground that are not shown on this drawing. Before any works are undertaken, the contractor is to ensure they are satisfied that the works area is utility free or that any identified utility can be managed safely.
 5. Contractor should review all factual information related to utilities, liaise with statutory authorities and undertake further checks and surveys to ascertain location and depth of utilities prior to undertaking intrusive, construction or diversion works.
 6. Utility location and depth should be read at the appropriate accuracy in accordance with PAS128.
 7. Easements may be present on the existing utilities. Easement constraints and widths to be confirmed with the utility owner.

the 1990s, the number of people with a mental health problem has increased in the UK (Mental Health Act 1983, 1990).

There is a growing awareness of the need to improve the lives of people with mental health problems. The Department of Health (1999) has set out a vision of a new mental health system, which will be based on the following principles:

- (i) People with mental health problems should be treated as individuals, with their own needs and wishes.
- (ii) People with mental health problems should be given the opportunity to participate in decisions about their care and treatment.
- (iii) People with mental health problems should be given the opportunity to live in their own homes and communities.
